Kunssafari

Aardklop 2017 skop af met ’n begeleide kunstoer deur die verskillende uitstallings van gemeenskapskunstprojekte wat hierdie jaar op die fees te sien is. Daar is behoorlik ’n smorgasbord van kunswerke te sien, vanaf ’n onsigbare uitstalling, beelhouwerk wat die grense laat bewe tot uitvoerkuns- en kunswerke deur jong kunstenaars afkomstig van oraloor die land. Kom ontmoet die kuratore en kunstenaars persoonlik, drink ’n glasie wyn (of meer!) en vier dan die opening van Aardklop 2017 met ’n heerlike openingspartjie tot die maan behoorlik die nag verhelder.

This Sotho maxim has no direct translation in English, but for Keleketla! it represents a form of acknowledgement and consent that signal a willingness to be present and to listen to someone else’s story with active participation.

From the onset, the whole idea of Keleketla! as a space is that of experiencing art and exploring what art does in life. For example, how does art begin, how does it end and how does it become relevant to the community? As a community driven project Keleketla! addresses issues of heritage and the danger of one (hi)story. In this sense Keleketla aims to be an open space where multiple stories and multiple narratives can exist parallel to each other in order to challenge dominant narratives, for example.

Core projects of Keleketla Library include:
- A lending and reference library
- After School programme
- Experimental projects such as STOKVEL, SKAFTIEN, Nonwane, The Essential: Words From Her music tour, Chimurenga Chronic public art intervention, Thathi Cover Okestra and most recently, Teen Talk, that will culminate during Aardklop 2018.

For Aardklop 2017 Keleketla will present a special project that showcases some of its activities and create the foundation for a longer, more in-depth context-specific project.

The Bag Factory Artists’ Studios

Currently under the directorship of Thuli Mlambo-James, The Bag Factory Artists’ Studios has been a space for visual artistic creativity since its inception in 1991. It was founded by Dr David Koloane and Robert Loder. The old bag manufacturing warehouse in Fordsburg, Johannesburg, was initially converted to provide studio space to artists from the diverse communities of South Africa. The concept was to bring together artists from different racial, cultural and educational backgrounds. Over the last two decades the organisation has grown to be synonymous with inclusion and diversity. Its groundbreaking and internationally renowned visiting artists’ programme as well as its numerous professional practice workshops and exhibitions have extended the scope of the organisation towards one that supports, promotes and develops the visual arts and artists in South Africa.

The Bag Factory has partnered with many other organisations around the world and is a member of the international Triangle Network.

For this year’s Aardklop The Bag Factory will present a context-specific interactive art workshop during the week of the festival.

The Artist Proof Studios (APS)

The Artist Proof Studios was founded in 1991 by Kim Berman and the late Nhlanhla Xaba to ‘reflect the spirit of a healthy democracy’ and the non-racial ideals expressed in the new constitution. Printmaking was seen as a counter force to the suspicion and division left from the apartheid years and, as a democratic medium, it was considered to be especially appropriate in helping to build a truly egalitarian society.

The Mission of Artist Proof Studio is to provide an environment to develop citizens with a common set of values, expressed in the notion of Ubuntu, that have talent and passion to achieve artistic excellence. APS focuses on printmaking and its allied outreach programmes to build capacity of people to reach self-actualisation and make a difference in society.

Today the Artist Proof Studio is one of the largest and most vibrant community and professional printmaking facilities in Southern Africa, accommodating up to 50 students per year. Hosting, publishing and collaborative projects with many artists and organisations each year.

The Center for the Less Good Idea

is in following the secondary ideas, those less good ideas coined to address the first idea’s cracks, that the Centre nurtures, arguing that in the act of playing with an idea, you can recognise those things you didn’t know in advance but knew somewhere inside of you.

The Centre is a space to follow impulses, connections and revelations. It’s a physical space for artists to come together over two seasons every year and for curators to bring together combinations of text, performance, image and dance. The Centre believes an ensemble sees the world differently to how one individual does. It is a safe space for failure, for projects to be tried and discarded because they do not work. It’s a space for short form work which doesn’t have a natural home in a theatre or gallery.

For Aardklop 2017 The Center will present an invisible exhibition combining cutting edge new media technology with the work of several well-known South African artists.

Founded by the artist William Kentridge The Center for the Less Good Idea aims to find the less good idea by creating and supporting experimental, collaborative and cross-disciplinary arts projects.

The Centre is a physical and immaterial space to pursue incidental discoveries made in the process of producing work. Often, you start with a good idea, it might seem crystal clear at first, but when you take it to the proverbial drawing board, cracks and fissures emerge in its surface, and they cannot be ignored. Sculpture Fair, twelve dynamic curators were appointed by six South African universities to appropriate the park, to express their own insights through the work of fifty alumni artists who experienced their adulthood after the fall of apartheid – with all its promises, hopes and challenges. Historically the vanguard of change, universities and their relations with society could not be more relevant or center stage than they are today.

For Aardklop 2017 a curated selection of sculptural works from The NIROX Winter Sculpture Fair 2017 will be exhibited at the botanical garden in Potchefstroom. The curated exhibition will comprise a number of artworks from recent graduates of universities from all over South Africa including The University of the Witwatersrand, University of Pretoria, University of Johannesburg, the Tshwane University of Technology and the University of Cape Town.

The Found Collective

Found Collective is a community for Pretoria creatives that seek to elevate and challenge perceptions of art and its role in the Capital City.

Found Collective is run by artists who have a personal stake in the growth of the creative community in Pretoria. It operates without a profit motive, and invests its resources solely in its members.

Found collective strives to create opportunities for Pretoria-based artists to showcase their talents all over South Africa, and maybe one day create international opportunities too.

Snake Eyes is a collaborative exhibition in the true sense of the phrase. We have paired up artists who we think will have unique creative synergy. These pairings are made up of some of Gauteng’s most exciting young artists who produce excellent work on their own, but who we believe will produce something brilliant and entirely new when their creative energies are combined.

Works by the following artist pairings will be included on the exhibition:

Banele Khoza and Alet Pretorius
MJ Turpin and Dylan Graham
Lala Trafford and Io Makandal
Maaike Bakker and Cobus Hautp
Shenaz Mahomed and Jaryn Crawshay-Hall
Carly Whitaker and Heidi Fourie
Johan Stegmann and Setlamorago Mashilo
